565 Live Party Lounge Music

A guitarist, composer, arranger, singer and entertainer, he began his musical journey at a very young age, a path that has led him to today's high-level performances. He is widely appreciated for his broad musical talent as well as for his elegant, refined and highly accurate recitals.

In 1996, he began collaborating with Fender US and, the following year, was awarded the title of the world's first Fender Guru. He toured internationally with Fred Bongusto and several of Italy's most renowned artists. These experiences coincided with the start of his professional collaboration with Maestro José Mascolo, renowned arranger for artists such as Petula Clark, Shirley Bassey, Liza Minnelli, Connie Francis, Don Costa, Jimmy Haskell and Bobby Hart.

He has appeared extensively on Italian television as a guitarist, including CLUB 92 (Rai, the Italian national broadcaster) with Gigi Proietti, ALTA CLASSE (Rai) with Gianni Minà and TELEMIKE (Canale 5) with Mike Bongiorno.

He speaks English fluently and possesses a beautiful, deep and mellow voice, particularly appreciated in nightclubs and intimate venues that require a refined and "confidential" vocal style. His repertoire includes songs in Italian, English, Spanish, Portuguese and Neapolitan. Chris Rea and Barry White are among his main artistic influences.

He plays both acoustic and electric guitar and personally oversees every musical aspect of his performances. He prepares all soundtracks himself and frequently rearranges them according to his personal taste, adding a distinctive touch that consistently elevates his live shows.

Since 1991, through the Show Boat Agency, he has also been active in event organization. He became the sole manager of several international artists, including Milva and The Bootleg Beatles, who were engaged for the launch of Cosmopolitan Italia (published by Mondadori). He has organized television appearances and showcases such as DOMENICA IN with Carlo Conti and ALLE DUE SU RAI UNO with Paolo Limiti, among many others.

Alongside his work as an event organizer and manager, he continues to perform as a bandleader and guitarist with some of the most elegant and respected groups of the past twenty years, including the Show Boat Orchestra, Stevie A's Dream Band and 565 Live Party Lounge Music. His performances have entertained international audiences worldwide in some of the most exclusive venues.
